

Alaska Railroad Corporation Green Star & Air Quality Policy

Our policy is to improve environmental quality through wise business decisions. These include conserving energy, reducing or eliminating waste, recycling, properly disposing of any remaining waste, reducing or eliminating outdoor air emissions through action and education, and promoting the use of alternative transportation. We believe a successful business is also a wise environmental steward. Improving our productivity, efficiency, and materials handling requires regular review of operations. The Alaska Railroad is actively working to achieve and maintain Green Star and Air Quality Standards to be a model for other organizations and our community.
