Summer Passenger Service to Airport Depot Begins

The Alaska Railroad Corporation (ARRC) wants to remind Anchorage drivers that summer passenger service begins Saturday May 14. Service between Seward, Whittier and Anchorage will once again move passengers to and from the Bill Sheffield Alaska Railroad Depot at the Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport and the Anchorage Historic Depot.

Traffic patterns will change at several crossings, including those located along the three-mile airport spur running between Minnesota and the Airport. Crossings include Northwood Drive, Jewel Lake Road, West 50th, and International Airport Road.

We are dedicated to the safety of our passengers, community and employees. We ask the driving community to obey all signals, be mindful of trucks and buses that must make mandatory stops at crossings and be prepared for occasional short delays.

The Alaska Railroad is an independent state-owned corporation that receives no state subsidies and serves Alaska's railbelt communities from Seward to North Pole.
